DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (If known) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE
This unusual building is located in mid-block, its left edge just under the Orleans St. Viaduct. It is two stories high and five bays wide; the surface is of brick, aggregate, and gold-tinted reflective glass. The end bays each display a two story array (4x4 lights) of glass; black metallic mullions delimit the panes. The remainder of these slightly projecting bays is surfaced in aggregate. Double glass doors open out of the two central ground floor lights, differentiated by thick mullions. The ground floor of the central three bay portion consists of three sections of recessed brick wall separated by projecting brick posts. The second story is surfaced in aggregate and punctuated by six sets of evenly spaced windows. From the left: a single-light, fixed pane vertical window, four sets of coupled windows of similar style, and another single-light window on the far right. All except the far right window are in recessments with a perpendicular left flank and bevelled right flank; the far right window's recessment is perpendicular on all flanks. A thin tin strip lines the entire roofline.
